EXPERT OPINIONS

Daniel Cameron

Mostly now a day is judged by its losses of time, like garments on a clothesline, its worth is assessed by how riddled it is with holes.
Tug the fabric, pull it down — Can you get away with wearing it once more?

Through the tears, what glimpses will they see, of what skin, and how many opinions is that?

Same number as gentlemen’s bets made on whether it will be sooner or later that you slip and expose yourself while trying to start again,
from the edge of the bed,
to the pantry,
to the whirring chrysalis of the shower.
Where could it have gone – the day, your day?

Awoken in a wrong home perchance, not where it is supposed to be,
fallen into a hundred holes, small and shameful,
each one persistently life-proofed,
quality tested by a professional crackup.

It has landed you, naked, in a superstitious place.

Call up customer service from that other world.
Answer, though you were the one to ring.

Hey! Hello – are you studying one thought?
Or racing to keep up with a flurry?

Just tell me: Is anyone else – panic – is anyone else going to count themselves off?

Yes. Your characters, they will survive you though they are embittered:

keys, telephone, mirror.
