It is where I move along to the gallery of same-sex sandwiches Corridors with condiments and condemnation that entreat me and repeat revulsion that makes my eyes water from within and without

It is where I move along to the bemusement of the moneychangers With oily-pompadours and scaly smiles who seduce virginal buds of solitary joy with Kewpie dolls that weep
from within and without

It is where
I move along to the carnival of barren billets,
Respite from wanton favors and rhyme
It speaks of the daze of summer that makes my heart break
from within and without

I glide along the midway of freaks and pin-heads
The zealot whispers the walrus song
The Barker offers me one on a stick In the land of screams, I must choose from within or without

There are two ways of spreading light:
to be the candle or the mirror that reflects it.

~ Edith Wharton
