ONE WISH

John Carpenter

If by happenstance I was granted
One wish to be fulfilled
I would like you to know
It is yours

Some favor gold and emerald crowns
Others feast on savory smiles
Or for death to come galloping with razor fangs
Yes, I remember such frivolous things

The lust of a thousand demons
The hunger of a thousand swords
The tears of a thousand princes
The pain of a thousand words

But now my wish
As I would state it to the Djinn
Would be to give you wings to fly
Where an angel deserves to be
