

Volume 2
Issue 2 Winter 1994

Article 5

3-1-1994

Homeland

Lisa Hixson
Concordia University - Portland

Follow this and additional works at: <http://commons.cu-portland.edu/promethean>

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Hixson, Lisa (1994) "Homeland," The Promethean: Vol. 2 : Iss. 2 , Article 5.
Available at: <http://commons.cu-portland.edu/promethean/vol2/iss2/5>

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by CU Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Promethean by an authorized administrator of CU Commons. For more information, please contact libraryadmin@cu-portland.edu.

Homeland

Remembrance has kept me spellbound from my homeland--the Big Sky country that I long to cast my eye upon.
To smell the fresh, brisk mountain air,
And gaze at the marvelous wildflowers
covering the new Spring ground.
My head tilts back in admiration to
The never-ending sky of blue and the Rays of the dry sun.
The cool stream hurries its troubled
Waters away;
Listening for the voices under the rocks
That hold the past memories of a past
Time.

Lisa Hixson